Backend (Admin side) Price Per Customer

Price per customer extension will allow to set customer specific price of same product. With two way you can set special price, one is to select customers from edit product and another is to selected products from edit customer.

1. Set Price Per Customer From Manage Product

On product edit you would be see one new tab with titled “Price Per Customer”. This tab will allow you to choose customers to whom you required to give discounted price. You can define product quantity and price of product per quantity.

Special Price: If assign a discount with single quantity of product only to particular customer, it would consider it as special price of product to respective customer. As you can see with below screenshot, Rack Fox have given price as 45 for 1 quantity. So, here this would be special price 45 of this product to Rack Fox.

Tier Price: If discount is assign with range of quantity that would be the tier price of product to customer. As shown in below screenshot, Jack Fitz have given three different price for different quantity. That is for 1 qty price is 48, for 2 qty price would be 44 and for 3 and above qty price would be 15% off.

Fix Price Or Discounted in Percentage: You can set the discounted price with fix price Or you can also set the price with percentage of original product price. For that you would require to add percentage symbol (%) after the price. As shown with below screenshot.

Bundle Product Type: Bundle product can only accept discounted price in percentage (%) of product price only.

Group Product Type: Group product type would not support, special price or tier price. But you can set discounted price to respective associated product to group product type.

In Customer tab, go to all customers and select any one customer for whom special price of one or multiple categories needs to be set.

There is Category Per Customer tab, click on the tab and “Add Category” button to add discount on categories. Once you save the category, it will apply discount on all products of the category.

Only percentage type is allowed to set the discount on category.

Also discount can be removed from category by clicking on “Remove Category” button.

3. Set Price Per Customer From Manage Customer

Price per customer can be also managed from edit customer too. While you edit any particular customer, you will see one tab called "Price Per Customer". With this tab admin can select various products and set special price or tier price for products.

As we have discussed with manage product tab, we can manage Special Price, Tier Price, fix price, Discount in percentage, Bundle product and group product with each product with here also.

Discount on all product: From here you can give fix percentage of discount with all products. If you set this option for any customer, Customer will get particular amount of discount throughout the site for all product. This discount would not be applicable for those products, if price per customer is set on products. See below screenshot,

Frontend Price Per Customer

Once the extension is properly configured at backend as above described, your customer can avail special offers you have set for them.

1. Set Price Per Customer From Manage Customer

Price per customer extension gives you an option to show a separate page for customer. This page will contain a list of products on which the customer has given a discount with Price Per Customer options.

Only a logged-in customer can access this offer page. The link title and the offer page title can be managed from admin configuration settings. Page URL identifier can also be managed from admin configuration for SEO friendly URL. As shown with the below screenshots,

The screenshot displays the LUMA storefront for a logged-in user, Veronica Costello. The header includes a welcome message and navigation links. The main content area features a 'Special offers for you' section, which is highlighted by an orange callout box stating: 'Special offer page for logged-in customer, where all products will be listed with special price for customer.' This section shows two items: a 'Joust Duffle Bag' priced at 34.00 US$ and an 'Endeavor Daytrip Backpack' priced at 30.00 US$ (with a regular price of 33.00 US$ crossed out). To the right, there are sections for 'Compare Products' (showing no items to compare), 'My Orders' (listing the Joust Duffle Bag and Strive Shoulder Pack with an 'Add to Cart' button), and 'My Wish List' (showing no items).

2. Product price block

Based on price set for product, the price block will be render with two different types.
